Where to Watch the Golden Globes

By Billy Lyons

We know trying to eat a meal when Amy Poehler and Tina Fey are on stage isn't easy, but that isn't stopping a handful of New York City restaurants from putting together special drink menus to coincide with the Golden Globes this Sunday. Here's a look at some of the best offers.

A.G. Kitchen: We love a place that honors its customers, especially when one of them is on a TV show like Breaking Bad. The Upper West Side restaurant is crafting a special michelada in honor of actress and longtime patron Betsy Brandt (aka Marie Schrader), and will have its full selection of tacos, burgers, and ceviche on hand (212-873-9400).
